About EQ-i^{2.0}

Dealing with the imperatives of the Covid and post-Covid environment call for resilience around one operating core anchored in emotional and social intelligence.

The EQ-i^{2.0} is the world's first scientifically validated Emotional Intelligence (EI) assessment test. Created by Dr. Reuven Bar-On, the pioneer in EI testing who coined the word 'Emotional Quotient', EQ-i has been in use since 1997. Today, there are millions of users of EQ-i across the globe. Thousands of EQ-i certified professionals are using the assessment for leadership development, training, selection, retention, coaching, counselling, and talent management globally.

The EQ-i^{2.0} has a 1-5-15 factor structure - 1 overarching EI score, broken down into 5 composite scores each of which, in turn, are broken down into 15 subscales. There are 133 items with global, business-centric language and relevant terminologies designed to measure individual constructs.

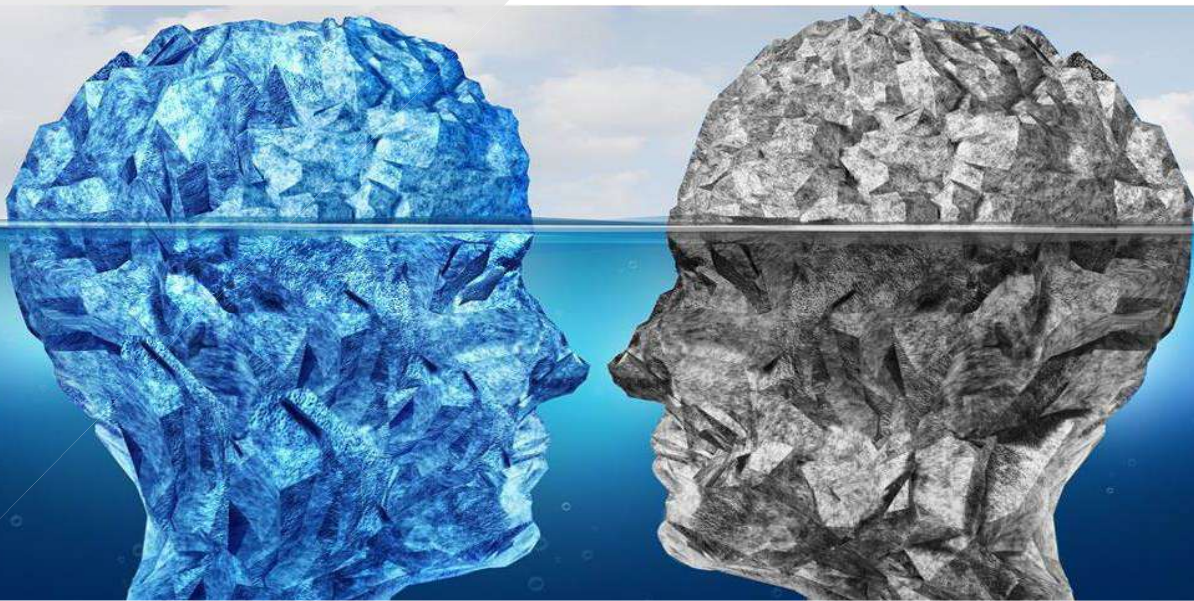

The EQ-i^{2.0} is more than just an assessment; it's an all-encompassing experience that will help certified professionals become the emotional intelligence authority in the eyes of their internal and external clients.
